

BILS - a collaborative environment

BILS fosters interaction between research groups by

- Combining people and resources to make larger, more impactful studies - better papers
- Advancing research through integration of diverse disciplinary subfields - better methods
- Generating new ideas through active knowledge exchange - better grants
- Taking part in international efforts - better research infrastructure

