

EMERALD

OPEN SCIENCE DAY

17 October 2023, Klimahuset, Oslo

Preliminary Agenda

- 11:05 Opening
- 11:15 Science summary
- 12:00 Keynote lecture I
- 12:45 Lunch
- 13:30 Keynote lecture II
- 14:15 Early Career Researcher session
(popular science talks)
- 15:15 Break
- 15:30 Group discussions
- 16:30 Gathering and concluding
- 17:00 End of the day

Please register

nettskjema.no/a/emerald-osd

Open-top chambers warm up some of the alpine vegetation plots in Låvisdalen, Vestland, 2019 (photo credit: Eva Lieungh)

Terrestrial ecosystem–climate interactions of our EMERALD planet

EMERALD is an interdisciplinary and nationally coordinated research project aiming to improve the representation of high latitude ecosystems and their climate interactions in the Norwegian Earth System Model. The EMERALD Open Science Day is the closing meeting of the project with the aim to share the experience and knowledge gained throughout the project period between 2019 and 2023.

UNIVERSITY OF OSLO

mn.uio.no/emerald

Funded by
The Research
Council of Norway