

Travel Information

Robotics and Intelligent Systems Research Group (ROBIN), University of Oslo

There are three airports surrounding Oslo with Oslo airport Gardermoen (OSL) being the largest airport, where most airlines fly to.

Travel to Oslo from the airports

Oslo airport Gardermoen (OSL). Approximately 20 minutes from the city centre with the airport train (NOK190), regular train takes about 23 min (NOK 101) or 45 minutes on the bus (NOK230, take F3 Flybussekspressen to Gaustad to get directly to UiO). Be aware that taking a taxi from the airport can be very expensive (!), especially with evening/night rates, and will also take much longer than the airport train.

Travel in Oslo

The city centre of Oslo is defined by the shopping street Karl Johans gate, going from the central station (Oslo sentralstasjon, called Oslo S) to the national theatre (Nationaltheatret). These are also the relevant stops for the airport train but note that every other train departing from OSL end at Oslo S and don't go to Nationaltheatret.

Oslo has an extensive public transport system, with metro, busses, trams, boats, trains and city bikes. The easiest and most efficient way to get around is probably to use the metro system. To get to our department by metro from downtown (enter under ground), take line 4 (Vestli) or line 5 (Ringen/Sognsvann). It is scheduled to take only 7-9 minutes from downtown. You get off at Forskningsparken station and walk under the metro line. There you will see a long black building where Department of Informatics is located. ROBIN is located in the south end (staircase A) at the fourth floor. A key card is needed to go beyond the 3rd floor but just call me or enter through the reception in the middle of the building in the 4th floor (staircase B, ask them there to open for you into the ROBIN corridor or call me).

Tickets

There is no ticket sale on the public transport system, so remember to buy a ticket in advance of your travel. Tickets for public transport in Oslo can be purchased in a large number of kiosks and shops as well as from ticket machines in addition to by the Ruter Smartphone app. You can buy single tickets (NOK 35), a 24-hour pass (NOK 105), or a week pass (NOK 249).
