Information Systems Journal accepts articles for Open Access publication. Please visit <https://authorservices.wiley.com/author-resources/Journal-Authors/open-access/onlineopen.html> for further information about OnlineOpen.

Wiley is a founding member of the UN-backed HINARI, AGORA, and OARE initiatives. They are now collectively known as Research4Life, making online scientific content available free or at nominal cost to researchers in developing countries. Please visit Wiley's Content Access – Corporate Citizenship site: <http://www.wiley.com/WileyCDA/Section/id-390082.html>

Wiley's Corporate Citizenship initiative seeks to address the environmental, social, economic, and ethical challenges faced in our business and which are important to our diverse stakeholder groups. Since launching the initiative, we have focused on sharing our content with those in need, enhancing community philanthropy, reducing our carbon impact, creating global guidelines and best practices for paper use, establishing a vendor code of ethics, and engaging our colleagues and other stakeholders in our efforts. INSTRUCTIONS FOR AUTHORS

Review information

The ISJ is double blind refereed, that is, reviewers do not know the identity of authors nor authors the identity of reviewers (Editors and Associate Editors are aware of the identities of authors). Each paper accepted into the review process is reviewed by a minimum of two reviewers plus formal or informal reviews by Associate and other Editors. Papers may be rejected, prior to the review process, by the Editors for perceived scope and/or quality reasons. Reviewers are asked to complete reviews within 1 month and authors should receive feedback within 3 months, with a view to publication within 6 months following acceptance. Factors, such as cycles of revision, publication backlogs, reviewer delays, and so on, may extend these target durations. Reviewers receive feedback (all reviews) after the paper has been processed, including names of authors, if the paper is accepted. No charges are made for submissions nor fees paid to reviewers.

Data Protection

By submitting a manuscript to or reviewing for this publication, your name, email address, and affiliation, and other contact details the publication might require, will be used for the regular operations of the publication, including, when necessary, sharing with the publisher (Wiley) and partners for production and publication. The publication and the publisher recognize the importance of protecting the personal information collected from users in the operation of these services, and have practices in place to ensure that steps are taken to maintain the security, integrity, and privacy of the personal data collected and processed. You can learn more at <https://authorservices.wiley.com/statements/data-protection-policy.html>.

Submission

The submission and review process of Information Systems Journal is handled online at <http://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/isj>. To submit an article to Information Systems Journal please go to <http://mc.manuscriptcentral.com/isj>, create an account and submit your article. Complete instructions on how to submit a paper are available online at the Journal website: http://onlinelibrary.wiley.com/journal/10.1111/\(ISSN\)1365-25751365-2575). Please contact the Editorial Office by e-mail (isjadmin@wiley.com) if you require further assistance.

Format and Structure

Authors are urged to write as concisely as possible. Submissions should be line spaced at 1.5 with wide margins on one side of the page. A manuscript, which should not exceed about 8000 words for the main text, not counting the appendices and references, should consist of the sections listed below.

Title page: This should include in the following order of presentation: title of paper, suggested running headline of not more than 45 characters including spaces, followed by the author's name, department, institution, city, country and number of words. A second copy of the title page should be provided without the author's details to facilitate 'blind' refereeing.

Main text: The text should begin on a new page, preceded by a short abstract, and a list of between four and six keywords should be provided for guidance. All pages should be numbered consecutively including the title page.

Author biographies: A biography for each author of about 100–200 words should be supplied as a separate file, including email addresses of all authors.

References

The Harvard System of referencing should be used in the text (Smith, 2003). All literature cited in the text should be arranged in alphabetical order at the end under the heading References.

The following examples illustrate the style to be followed:

Article in journal

Keil, M., Tiwana, A. & Bush, A. (2002) Reconciling user and project manager perceptions of IT project risk: a Delphi study. Information Systems Journal, 12, 103–120.

Book

Avison, D. & Fitzgerald, G. (2006) Information Systems Development: Methodologies, Techniques and Tools, 4th edn. McGraw-Hill, Maidenhead, UK.

Chapter in book

Willcocks, L. & Fitzgerald, G. (1996) IT outsourcing and the changing shape of the information systems function. In: Information Management: The Organisational Dimension, Earl, M. J. (ed.), pp. 270–294. Oxford University Press, Oxford, UK.

We recommend the use of a tool such as Reference Manager for reference management and formatting. Reference Manager reference styles can be searched for here: <http://www.refman.com/support/rmstyles.asp>.

Illustrations and tables

Tables and figures should use the Arial font (or Helvetica if you don't have Arial). They should be referred to in the text as Figures using Arabic numerals, e.g. Figure 1, Figure 2, Table 1, Table 2, etc. in order of appearance.

Electronic artwork

We would very much like to receive your artwork in electronic form. Please save vector graphics (e.g. line artwork) in Encapsulated Post-script Format (EPS) and bitmap files (e.g. half-tones) in Tagged Image Format (TIFF). Detailed information on our digital illustration standards is available at <http://www.wiley.com/WileyCDA/Section/id-390082.html>

On Acceptance

Copyright. Authors submitting a paper do so on the understanding that the work has not been published before, is not being considered for publication elsewhere and has been read and approved by all authors. Provided that you give appropriate acknowledgement to ISJ and Wiley, and full bibliographic reference for the article when it is published, you may use the accepted version of the article as originally submitted for publication in the journal, and updated to include any amendments made after peer review, in the following ways:

- you may share the print or electronic copies of the article with colleagues;

- you may use all or part of the article and abstract, without revision or modification, in personal compilations or other publications of your own work;
- you may use the article within your employer's institution or company for educational or research purposes, including use in course packs. If your paper is accepted, the author identified as the formal corresponding author for the paper will receive an email prompting them to login into Author Services; where via the Wiley Author Licensing Service (WALS) they will be able to complete the license agreement on behalf of all authors on the paper.

For authors signing the copyright transfer agreement

If the OnlineOpen option is not selected the corresponding author will be presented with the copyright transfer agreement (CTA) to sign. The terms and conditions of the CTA can be previewed in the samples associated with the Copyright FAQs below:

CTA Terms and Conditions http://authorservices.wiley.com/bauthor/faqs_copyright.asp

For authors choosing OnlineOpen

If the OnlineOpen option is selected the corresponding author will have a choice of the following Creative Commons License Open Access Agreements (OAA):

Creative Commons Attribution License OAA

Creative Commons Attribution Non-Commercial License OAA

Creative Commons Attribution Non-Commercial -NoDerivs License OAA

To preview the terms and conditions of these open access agreements please visit the Copyright FAQs hosted on Wiley Author Services http://authorservices.wiley.com/bauthor/faqs_copyright.asp and visit <http://www.wileyopenaccess.com/details/content/12f25db4c87/Copyright-License.html>.

If you select the OnlineOpen option and your research is funded by The Wellcome Trust and members of the Research Councils UK (RCUK) you will be given the opportunity to publish your article under a CC-BY license supporting you in complying with Wellcome Trust and Research Councils UK requirements. For more information on this policy and the Journal's compliant self-archiving policy please visit: <http://www.wiley.com/go/funderstatement>.

Permissions: If all or parts of previously published illustrations are used, permission must be obtained from the copyright holder concerned. It is the author's responsibility to obtain these in writing and provide copies to the Publisher.

Note to NIH Grantees

Pursuant to NIH mandate, Wiley will post the accepted version of contributions authored by NIH grant-holders to PubMed Central upon acceptance. This accepted version will be made publicly available 12 months after publication. For further information, see <http://www.wiley.com/go/nihlmandate/>.

Proofs

The corresponding author will receive an e-mail notification with a link and instructions for accessing HTML page proofs online. Proofs must be returned within 48 hours of receipt.

Offprints

A PDF offprint of the online published article will be provided free of charge to the corresponding author, only if the author has signed up for Author Services. Additional paper offprints may be ordered online. Please click on the following link, fill in the necessary details and ensure that you type information in all of the required fields: www.sheridan.com/wiley/eoc.

Author Services

For more substantial information on the services provided for authors, please see <http://authorservices.wiley.com/bauthor/default.asp>

Early View Service

Information Systems Journal is covered by Wiley Publishing's Early View service. Early View articles are complete full-text articles published online in advance of their publication in a printed issue. Articles are therefore available as soon as they are ready, rather than having to wait for the next scheduled print issue. Early View articles are complete and final. They have been fully reviewed, revised and edited for publication, and the authors' final corrections have been incorporated. Because they are in final form, no changes can be made after online publication. The nature of Early View articles means that they do not yet have volume, issue or page numbers, so Early View articles cannot be cited in the traditional way. They are therefore given a Digital Object Identifier (DOI), which allows the article to be cited and tracked before it is allocated to an issue. After print publication, the DOI remains valid and can continue to be used to cite and access the article.
